

RED CROSS NOTES

Home of Interest From the Publicity Committee, Red Cross Association

On Monday, November 18th, the Canadian Red Cross Society opened its $250,000 war fund campaign. Alberta's allotment in the campaign is $100,000. In the northern part of the province Mr. W. J. Dick, of Edmonton, is campaign manager, with Capt. K. C. McLeod, Marville, as his assistant. In the south, Major Andrew Davison, Calgary, is manager, his assistant being Mr. W. A. Austin, of Didsbury.

While the actual fund campaign does not start until Nov. 13, the Society has not only organized for war relief but is also engaged in the C.A.M.C. service as an auxiliary of the Red Cross. It is fully engaged through its volunteer workers in preparing war supplies already asked for.

While the actual fund campaign does not start until Nov. 13, the Society has not only organized for war relief but is also engaged in the C.A.M.C. service as an auxiliary of the Red Cross. It is fully engaged through its volunteer workers in preparing war supplies already asked for.

Repeating the extent to which the authorities depend upon the Red Cross society for hospitals in the fighting front, and comfort for the fighting forces, managers of the fund campaign, are confident Alberta citizens everywhere will respond readily to help with the campaign slogan "Give till it hurts!"

From the French Republic and the Legation of the French Republic at Ottawa the Canadian Red Cross Society has received communications emphasizing their needs. These include medical supplies, dressings, clothing, bed coverings, socks, food, absorbent cotton, bandages, surgical materials, disinfectants, supplies and sterilizing equipment.

The American Red Cross group has supplied the French Society with 500 blankets, 20,000 pairs of underwear and 50,000 other garments. In addition the American Society has provided 125,000 yards of bandages, for use in the fighting front, and as well as underwear and blankets for Polish refugees in Hungary and Rumania.

The Canadian Red Cross Society has accepted the generous offer of Viscount Argyll for the use of ground on his Clarendon estate upon which the Society will erect and equip a 300 bed hospital. It will be used to house wounded Canadian soldiers during the present war. By the Canadian Department of National Defence will approve and operate the hospital.

Canadian railway and other transportation managements have agreed to give free transportation to all war supplies under Red Cross auspices during the war period.

Supplies of material for Red Cross workers have already been bought to the value of $40,000. Orders for future delivery to the value of $25,000 have also been placed.

Members of Canadian Clubs in United States cities will be able to contribute to Canadian Red Cross War Funds. An application to the United States Secretary of State will bring a permit to collect and forward for the assistance of sick and wounded Canadian soldiers. The United States Secretary of State will bring a permit to collect and forward for the assistance of sick and wounded Canadian soldiers.

Should hospitals for the use of the Army Medical Corps in the war zone be needed the Canadian Red Cross Society will build them as funds are available. This is a reported desire of the society's National War Committee.

Attention is drawn to the fact that the $250,000 fund for the Canadian Red Cross is now campaigning. It is intended to cover both peace and wartime activities of the Society. All official canvassers in the campaign will carry official permits for identification purposes.

All roads lead to Makepeace Place, Friday, where a very successful card party and dance was held in the school. Sufficient funds were raised for the Christmas Concert. We wish to thank the musicians who so kindly co-operated.

To Carry on Law Practice In Bassano

Residents of the Town and District will be glad to learn that the law practice of Mr. William McLaws, which he has conducted here for the last fifteen years, will not be discontinued, but will be carried on under the name of McLaws, Gordon and Company.

The actual practice will be in charge of Mr. T. A. Gordon, B.A., LL.B., until recently associated with McLaws, and now residing in Edmonton.

The fire insurance (accident, casualty and other forms of insurance heretofore carried on by Mr. McLaws) will also be handled by Mr. Gordon. The Recorder announced last week that the business had been taken over by Mr. J. K. Donaldson, Secretary-Treasurer of the Town was premature and unauthorised.

The Recorder understands that Mr. Gordon will carry on the business during the absence of Mr. McLaws, on military service, and that should the present war end within a reasonable time, Mr. McLaws will probably return to Bassano to resume his law practice and other activities in the Town and District.

A Happy Family Reunion

A very happy family reunion took place on Wednesday, October 25th, when the family of Mrs. John D. Simpson of Maple Avenue, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, were reunited for the first time in many years. The members of the family are: Mrs. Fred Chesney of Troy, N.Y.; Mrs. Donald Chesney of Miller Falls, Mass.; Mrs. Nelson Simpson of Bassano, Alta.; Mr. W. M. Simpson and Miss Edna H. Simpson of Maple Avenue, New Glasgow.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Simpson left Bassano on October 12th for New York, making their first stop in Troy, N.Y. While there, accompanied by Mrs. Chesney, Mr. and Mrs. Mathewson, they visited the World's Fair in New York City, where they spent a delightful time. After a short visit in Miller Falls, they left for Nova Scotia, accompanied by Mrs. Chesney and Mrs. Mathewson, and arrived in New Glasgow on Wednesday afternoon, having travelled 1,235 miles without even a puncture.

It is eleven years since Mr. and Mrs. Simpson visited Nova Scotia and they are being welcomed by their many friends in this part of the country.

Special Services In Anglican Church Sat., Nov. 11th.

Remembrance Day, Saturday, November 11th, will be celebrated by a service of prayer and praise in the Anglican Church, Bassano, on that day. This, so far as is known, is the only Remembrance Day service being held in the Bassano District, and it is the duty and privilege of every loyal citizen to attend, with every member of his family, without regard to race, creed or color. It is the one day of the year when we all, as citizens of Canada, are united.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICE

Minister: The bell tolls. Heads bowed in reverence. Thoughts of flowing tears. (Crying from the front of seats.) The care of God. His name. You evermore Amen. Slowly! Slowly! Slowly! Heads bowed, eyes low.

Canada, and members of the British Empire, met together for a service, to renew our memory of the brave men who fought and fell in the last war.

This year there will be thoughts of the men engaged in the present struggle, some of whom are from this district. It will be Remembrance Day for them too. Never let them be forgotten. The young boys, who were not here during the years of 1914-1918, will be impressed by the service; bring them along.

It is expected that an returned man will parade to the Church, and the service will commence promptly at 10:45. The two-minute silence will be observed at 11 o'clock.

Highest Honor Conferred Upon Scoutmaster

A great brotherhood and spirit of friendship of four years standing culminated Tuesday night when the 10th Boy Scout Troop presented Scoutmaster Wm. McLaws with a "Thanks Badge," as their token of appreciation for the work he has done for the troop.

The "Thanks Badge" is symbolic of one of the highest honors that can be conferred upon a Scoutmaster or Scoutmaster. It is a recognition of something worth while accomplished in the interests of the Troop. The Scoutmaster has been "commended" by the face of the "Thanks Badge," which is the fleur-de-lis insignia of the Scout movement.

It is a chilly night in late November of 1935 when Mr. McLaws summoned a group of ten boys to rally at the school to form the nucleus of a Scout Troop. Approximately 15 boys answered that first call to partake of physical training classes and general citizenship classes. To-day, only five boys still remain, yet the organization has reached an all-time high of 36 Scouts.

That dominant characteristic, dynamic organizing power, has led Mr. McLaws to be the idol of the Scout Troop, keeping it functioning smoothly and raising the morale of our youths to an extremely high standard for a rural community.

In presenting the gift, Troop Leader Ron MacLean expressed the respect and admiration of the Scout Troop, as well as remembering the activities at the Scout Camp. Following the presentation, the boys gave a hearty shout of "Thank you, Scoutmaster."

In replying, Scoutmaster McLaws expressed his appreciation of the small team. He made it very clear that his work with the boys has been enjoyable as he said: "Always remember my work with you has been for my own personal enjoyment, as many of you know I believe I'm still a boy myself."

It was generally characteristic of the lawyer, when in his parking space, he next instructed every officer in the cadet corps, and the quartermaster, was to be chosen. Mr. McLaws has been officially elected as succeeding Scoutmaster.

McLaws Presented With Parting Gift By Bd. Trade

Text of Holmes' Presentation To McLaws

The following is the text of a long presentation address given by Mr. Harry Holmes of Bassano, at the Board of Trade meeting on Wednesday afternoon of this week. Following the address, Mr. Holmes presented Mr. McLaws, retiring President of the Board, with a Travelling Bag. Mr. President and Gentlemen: I have been asked on the occasion of "Bill" McLaws, going away, to say a few words. I'm not going to take much of your time in relating the virtues of our retiring President, because, gentlemen, I'm sorry to say, he hasn't any. Looking back through the life of our former president, I think most of the time on the Board of Trade will agree with me in saying he is a "Gentleman" President. He's ever had.

Becoming serious for a moment, I wish to state that we are losing a vital driving force in our community life, with the loss of "Bill" McLaws.

A caring link which is considered one of the best in southern Alberta is mainly due to the efforts of him and drive he put into the sporting activities of our community. The Board of Trade, located right in the centre of town, with its permanent building, is also due to a man who is a "Gentleman" President. Mr. Scott, who is an expert on such conditions, maintains that once in a while a "Gentleman" man will bring a brilliant idea, that the main thing that Scott has estimated in his entire term is the Board and Cadet movement. Being to his retiring efforts, on their behalf, we have for a great many years turned out a fine lot of young men who are now in any other small town in Alberta.

Mr. McLaws, in giving you this small token, the Board of Trade members want to express their appreciation of the good work you have done in this town. We have a fervent hope that you carry it backwards and forwards in your travels, you will still feel you are carrying a small gift of Bassano in your capable fist.

Committees Meet. Discuss Campaign

A meeting of the Red Cross Society, Finance, and Campaign Committees was held in the Royal Cafe on Tuesday evening last. Persons present were chairman A. McKee, Mrs. J. Johnston, H. W. Harper, W. P. MacNeil and E. L. Skerritt. Thirteen teams were selected to canvass the town to gain members. The organization, however, has not been able to set any definite meeting dates.

It is hoped that all citizens will rally to the support of the Society and in the work. Canvassers will start their campaign on November 15th at a point of a Dominion-wide movement. By your aid by joining today!

Penn have been set: Adults $1.00 Juniors 50c per annum.

Juveniles Organize

Organization of the Juvenile Hockey Club is in progress at the school Friday night last, when Mr. McKee was elected manager and coach for the ensuing term. Mr. McKee accepted the position of president of the club.

It was decided that one of the players handle the books, with Doug MacLean being the unanimous choice of the meeting. Ramsey Broadbent will be the captain of the club.

The team instituted last year the principle of clean sportsmanship, having every member from a position in the line-up. The same system is to be used this year.

The meeting voted to sponsor a dance and raffle to aid in the purchase of goal pads and uniforms.

Juvenile Club To Sponsor Dance And Raffle, 17th

To aid in the purchase of goal pads and uniforms the Juvenile Hockey Club have made arrangements for a dance and raffle to be held in the Music Hall on November 17th, next Friday.

The Juvenile organization of the past few years have been handicapped with lack of equipment, resulting in a lower standard of hockey. It is imperative that our first step be the proper facilities to learn the game so that they may develop to reinforce the senior team.

One of the greatest dances of the season should be in the offering as the rhythm Rascals beat out their rhythms, swing, waltzes for the conservatory. Three door prizes have been donated by interested merchants.

14 pound stack of flour, donated by G. H. Warren.

A subscription to the Bassano Recorder.

A pair of Gloves, donated by A. McKee.

Other boys have also arranged for supper. Many complaints have been heard in the past that the supper interval is too long. Therefore an effort will be made to have the supper, coffee and a short program.

To attract more to the affair, contests and stunts will be thrown amongst the dancers following two o'clock.

Gay Quater has donated 500 cigarettes to be used as prizes.

The greatest feature will be the draw, which will be held at 10:30 in the evening. The Club has purchased this through the Auto Camp Garage.

Other prizes to be drawn include: A $100 merchandise order, donated by Jas. Johnston; Small Ham, donated by Pioneer Meat Market; Four dozen chocolate bars, donated by Ray's Quick Lunch; 4 quart Maple syrup, donated by Jos. Harris; Casserole, donated by Finnigan Bros. Picnic Ham, donated by Farmers' Meat Market; Pair of Gloves donated by L. Storr; and donations from Hildebrandt Drug Store and Mrs. C. H. Brown.

The Apple Campaign

NO DOUBT our readers already know, a serious surplus of Canadian apples has developed overnight due to war conditions.

The British market, hitherto major outlet for Canada's choicest apples, has suddenly disappeared, due to necessary import restrictions and lack of storage space in trans-Atlantic steamers. An emergency of the first magnitude has thus arisen, not only for the individual growers, but whose sections of Canada, which depend for their continued welfare on this particular crop.

This is a national problem that demands immediate attention unless we are content to sit and see a whole season's crop sacrificed and the fresh apple market completely demoralized.

Accordingly the Dominion department of agriculture now asks your enthusiastic and practical help in making completely effective a nation-wide purchasing campaign to be undertaken at once. The objective of this campaign is to create a vast, untapped domestic market for Canadian apples. That objective can be achieved only if backed up wholeheartedly by everyone in the prairie provinces.

By newspaper and magazine advertisements by radio, direct mail, posters—by every medium of publicity available the department proposes to make known to housewives and the public generally the admirable opportunity now presented for getting better acquainted with the King of Fruits, the Canadian apple, at its best. The proportion of inferior grade apples to reach the fresh fruit trade will be sharply reduced, and the better apples, including a large share of the choice packs normally sent to Great Britain, will be offered at very attractive prices. The substandard are left only to the outlet of manufacture by canning and drying, and to be pressed for apple juice, cider and vinegar.

Dealers, jobbers, wholesalers and the trade generally can give impetus to this national effort by featuring Canadian apples in stores, arranging displays, making use of dealer helps which will be liberally supplied by the department, distributing literature to housewives and in various ways.

We are convinced that Canada's 1939 apple crop can be readily absorbed by Canada herself, the purchasing power of whole sections of Canada maintained and the marketing of this important crop kept on an orderly basis if this merchandising plan is followed through with energy and enthusiasm. In the pursuit of this purpose, the Canadian government looks to you for support. May they count on you?

Poppy Day

THE SYMBOLISM Of the poppy, the sorrowful appropriateness its blood-red bloom, takes on a deeper significance each such succeeding year. The Great War is passing almost into legend; a generation is bequeathed the duty of carrying into the years that have yet to come, the work and the ideals of those whom the Poppy commemorates.

Canada, along with the whole Empire, has adopted the Poppy as a symbol of Remembrance Day, because of the 60,000 graves in France and Belgium in which lie the dead of the preceding generation; because of the 170,000 Canadians of Canada the conflict brought dismemberment of one kind or another. The crosses in the cemeteries of Flanders are garlanded with Poppies—dolorous emblems of a Nations Youth consumed in the "Wrath-red" force of war.

On Poppy Day this Dominion pauses in its normal activities to recall the sacrifices of its young men, to pay tribute to their heroism, their hardihood and their uncomplaining fortitude with which they bore the privations and sufferings. At the same time, Canada strives to liquidate in some small measure, an obligation to those disabled men employed in the Vetrif Industries of the Country, whose only means of livelihood is the making of these simple emblems.

The Dominion-wide ramifications of the great Canadian Legion, with its tens of thousands of workers on Poppy Day, take care of the distribution of those Poppies throughout Canada. There is thus insured to their disabled comrades in those Vetrif Shops a loyal performance of a sorrowful yet praiseworthy task. All Canadians of every age and degree should wear a symbol on Poppy Day. For that is surely a day of reconciliation and of dedication to the work on hand, of continuing the structure of civilization where the workers of a previous generation left off.

Buffalo for Ontario

THE ORIGINAL Habitat of the North American buffalo, or bison, was the plains of western North America. When the white man first came west huge herds of buffalo occupied the territory extending from the Gulf of Mexico well into Canada. These herds drifted south in the winter and north in the summer.

The merciless white man made short work of the buffalo. The great, ponderous animals were killed by the cunning and high-powered rifles of the white hunters. Towards the end of the nineteenth century, the buffalo faced extinction.

Early in the present century the Canadian government did a good stroke of business when it bought a herd of several hundred buffalo from a half-breed in Montana whose name was 'Michael' Pablo. After a great deal of trouble this herd was rounded up and shipped to Alberta. Just recently a carload of 20 buffalo was shipped to Buffalo, Ont., at the request of the Ontario government. The buffalo are not native to Ontario, and it will be interesting to see how they progress under the climatical conditions prevalent there. The Alberta buffalo herds are sufficiently large and thriving to furnish supplies to all Canadian provinces if they wished.

Value of Board of Trade

BUT WHILE WE May expect much from a board of trade, we must not expect miracles nor success in all ventures. After all, the contribution asked from any person is little, and if any good is accomplished for the community at all it should be worth the effort or the membership fee on the part of an individual. It is a failing with all of us that sometimes we expect too much from a small investment, and in expecting too much, we lose sight of real advantages gained. It is human nature to expect more from we are likely to get, and to want more than we have got after we have gotten it. It is this characteristic of human nature that often leads us to unjustified disappointment. —MacLeod Gazette.

The Only Goal

THE FINAL Object of this war is not the resuscitation of Poland, or Czechoslovakia, or pre-Anschluss Austria. It is not the liberation of Balkan or Scandinavian states from fear and bondage. It is not the regeneration of the Weimar Republic. Those things are part and parcel of a greater objective—the restoration of reason, decency, sanity to the entire world, and the governance of law between nations.

That is why there is no concrete objective—no objective that can be stated in terms of money or people or territory. The objective of this war is to register upon Nazi Germany (and every other country with similar ambitions) the idea that we are living in 1939, in an age when threat, force and slaughter are barred as instruments of international relationship.

Since this is our goal, it would be futile, at this point, to try to define it in terms of boundaries and victories. Obviously, we do not seek merely momentary retribution for the crimes of the Third Reich; we seek also acceptable safeguards for the future of humanity. Whether victory is attained at Saarbrücken or Berlin, we must fight not merely till Hitler is willing to compromise, but until Hitlerism has been obliterated, and cast out from the hearts of the German People.—Calgary Herald.

The Poet's Corner

SONG OF THE SOLDIER

What of the faith and fire within us
Men who march away
Ere the barn-cocks say
Night is breaking gray,
To hazards whence no fears can win us;
What of the faith and fire within us
Men who marched away?

Is it a purblind prank, O think you,
Friend with the missing eye
Who watch us slipping by
With doubt and dolorous sigh?
Can much pondering so hindwork you!
Is it a purblind prank, O think you,
Friend with the missing eye?

Nay: We see well what we are doing,
Though some may not see—
Dalliers as they may bet—
England's need are we.

The great object of life is not to seek our own pleasure, but to do our duty.

There are two freedoms—'tis false, where a man is free to do what he likes; and the true, where a man is free to do what he ought.

Honor Departing Enthusiast

The sporting fraternity of the Tennis and Rugby clubs of Bassano met Monday night at the Casino to bid the energetic organizer of many years good-bye. Wm. McLaws has been, literally speaking, the Tennis Club, bringing it from a financially defunct club of five or six, to a thriving group of racquet wielders, now numbering approximately 30.

In the realm of the plucky, Monty McLaws has in the last few years molded a group of athletes into a successful club.

Speaking on behalf of the association, Mr. W. P. MacBeth paid a glowing tribute to the dynamic man of sport at the gathering. The atmosphere, although the dominant sphere of influence was one of regret, was well sprinkled with joyful jesting no characteristic of the man who is leaving.

In replying, Mr. McLaws gave a short panorama of the advance of sports since 1919, when he came to Bassano. He also traced the sportsman and sportswoman present to keep up the high standard already set.

Mr. McLaws was presented with a travelling kit, complete with accessories, as a small token of remembrance from the two clubs.

As Mr. MacBeth explained, it is to Mr. McLaws in making the presentation: "If you'll pardon my French, it's a lot of sentiment in it."

Weather-man Plays Pranks

The weather-man, although a little late for Halloween pranks, has certainly delighted upon the type of weather Bassano, and all of Alberta, has had, in the last few days. The sunny skies and balmy fall days, the kind that the average workman pursues about camp in our little town over the summer months.

Tuesday night, a sharp wind gathered sleek-like particles of snow covering the ground with a damp blanket. Wednesday morning, the frozen precipitation had disappeared, bringing back the warmth of summer.

In the afternoon, a strong wind whipped dust into dark clouds, then pulled off the disguise, as a blizzard struck. After two hours, the wind subsided, leaving a bewildering wonderland of white. It was summer, fall or winter.

Needless to say, harvesting operations which were about to begin in the district to the north of town, have again been set back indefinitely.

Curling Club Organizes

A re-organization meeting of the Bassano Curling Club was held in the Royal Bank on Monday evening of the week, November 6th, with a good turnout of enthusiastic players.

The secretary for the past year, Mr. Flood, read the financial statement and auditors' report, showing that the club had successfully carried out last year's activity, but that a very small bank balance was on hand to begin the 1939-40 season with. Mr. Flood was elected to the office of Vice President. J. W. Redmond takes over the secretary's books, and Mr. Flood will act as Auditor for the coming term.

A two man committee was appointed to solicit members, and arrange rink for the coming season. A. Cuthro and B. Haszky were appointed to do this work. Before the personnel of rinks is announced, they will be turned in to the executive for approval.

Other routine business included the passing of the necessary motion for building matters, and a motion to become affiliated with the Royal Canadian Curling Club.

Wm. McLaws outlined the proposed Bow Valley Houseboat Association program as arranged this spring, to abolish open bonanzas in each town along the river, having one central 'spot' in place of this. It is expected that the first of these 'spots' will be held in Bassano next spring. A motion was passed, stating that the local open spot be abolished, but that the local mixed 'spot' be held as usual. Dates for this will be announced at the season progresses.

It is expected that a larger membership will be recorded this year than last, due to a number of newcomers announcing their interest in the pastime. Reggy was expressed in the loss of such prominent old-time curlers as Jack Siorance, E. P. Currie and Wm. McLaws.

Let's Make It Our Business
By J. T. Ford

The world's history almost from the beginning, has largely been a record of conquering and conquest—a constant struggle for markets—a fierce selling by force of arms. Trade wars are as old as Empire.

Competition in sales brought on the Crusades. True enough, Religion did the recruiting. But the underlying motive was to dislodge those Asiatic princes who controlled the overland routes to the Spice Islands.

Two hundred years ago, the British and French fought bitterly in Canada over the lucrative fur trade. And again in India, over trade monopoly there. In the New World, Hudson Bay Company built forts for trading posts—and competition with men and outlaws. And halfway around the globe the British East India Company had its own standing army and battle fleets.

Today, Japan is striving ruthlessly to re-acquire the Chinese markets. German and Italian military aggression is in a large degree commercially inspired. Nations are still out running for markets.

Just two thousand years ago, a Persian salesman was handed a terrific selling job. He was sent in

MRS. J. SCHAEFER PASSES FOLLOWING ILLNESS

Mrs. Jake Schaefer, aged 29, beloved wife of Jake J. Schaefer of Bassano, passed away in the local hospital on Saturday last, following a three weeks illness.

Born at Essex, England, on October 25th, 1910, the late Mrs. Schaefer came to Canada with her parents in 1915. She was united in marriage to Mr. Schaefer in 1929, and to this union, 5 children were born: Clifford Kenneth aged 8; Robert John, 7; Edward Arthur, 5; Jacob Roy, 3 and Lillian Margaret, 17 months.

Funeral services were conducted on Monday night at the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Stephens of Calgary officiating at 2 p.m. Interment was made in the Bassano Cemetery. Pallbearers were Messrs. E. Meidinger, Capron, W. Rutschka, H. Treiber, I. Seeley and J. Rutschka. Dr. B. E. Barlow was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Surviving the deceased are her husband and five children, and her parents of Cliffswick, B. C.

The dear remainder of Bassano citizens is extended to the bereaved family in their sad and loss.

WEDDINGS
DOWN—WOOLY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Downs on Monday afternoon of this week, when Margaret Christina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Wray, of Roseland, B. C., became the bride of Mr. Myrtle William Downs, of Bassano, third son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Downs, of Rosemary.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. K. Barton, was attended by her sister, Alma, of Roseland, B. C. J. H. Downs, of Lethbridge, brother of the groom, was best man. Rev. R. R. Hinchey of Brooks, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a long white net over satin dress, with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of white mums intermingled with roses. The bridesmaid chose blue net and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony which took place at four o'clock in the afternoon, a wedding supper was served at the Imperial Hotel, at which twenty-two friends and relatives were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Downs, who are well known in this district, will make their future home in Bassano.

In Central and Western Europe with orders to land that vast territory for his employer. And despite determined resistance opposition he did. The salesman's name was Julius Caesar. His employer, Rome.

Caesar's report to his board of directors—the Roman Senate—on how he got the business is a masterpiece of brevity. "VENI, VIDI, VICA— I came, I saw, I conquered."

More solid sales men live in these three words than may be found in many thoughtful books. In effect, Caesar said: "VENI—I got out in the territory. VIDI—I studied the market. VICA—armed with the facts, I landed the business."

"Selling was Caesar's business—and his sales plan brought results. It built the greatest Empire the world has ever known."

Let's borrow a page from Caesar. If business is a battle, LET'S MAKE IT OUR BUSINESS. Let's put that "VENI, VIDI, VICA" into practice to-

1. Assemble all the facts.
2. Weigh them carefully.
3. Then take action.

After all, no good commander would lead his troops into battle without first ascertaining the strength and disposition of his enemy, the lay of the land, the chances for victory.

In almost every specialized line of endeavor, men take the same precautions. Even the safe-cracker (who isn't very bright) in waging his own peculiar kind of campaign, carefully checks the job before he begins the vault. He finds out where police officers are stationed. He studies road maps and train schedules. He plans ahead of time where he's going next. And he locates the burglar alarm BEFORE it goes off!
